ELDEN D. CHOATE.

Elden D. Choate was the first Montville boy to give his life for his country. He was a member of the 30th Depot Brigade. He died at Camp Devens October 16th, aged 21 years, 8 months and 8 days, of pneumonia following Spanish influenza. His mother, Mrs. Annabelle B. Choate, was summoned and cared for him until the end came. He was anxious to be called to the colors and would have made a brave soldier had his life been spared. He leaves, beside his mother, five sisters and two brothers to deplore his untimely passing. The whole community sympathize sincerely with them. The funeral service was conducted at the house October 19th by Rev. Nathan Hunt of Morrill. Interment at the Plains cemetery. A partial list of the floral offerings follow, showing in a slight manner in what esteem the young soldier was held by relatives and friends: Sprays of roses from his mother and sister, Mrs. Elden Rowell; cluster of roses and ferns from his sister, Mrs. Charles F. Carter; spray of roses, Mrs. Ruby Holt; set piece of roses and green from Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Barlow, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Thorndike and son, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Lucas, Don Lucas, Chester Gray and mother; spray of gladioli, Mrs. Sleeper of Belfast; wreaths from Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Jackson, Leonard V. and Miss Nella Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Baker; bouquet, Mrs. Alice Sanford.

SUSAN W. BURD.

Miss Susan Wentworth Burd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Burd of West Medford, Mass., died at her home Oct. 31st, after an illness of several months. The family had just returned to Boston from Belfast, where they had spent the summer. During their visit Miss Burd was taken critically ill, and spent some weeks at the Waldo County Hospital. She was born in Boston, although both her father and mother were Belfast people. Miss Burd was a graduate of Radcliffe College, with honors, and had recently been private secretary to Dr. Langford of the psychology department at Harvard. She is survived by her parents, a sister, Miss Kate Lewis of Boston, and two brothers, Edwin D. Burd, Jr., and Lieut. Commander J. A. Lewis, U. S. Naval Reserve, who is abroad in command of a government transport. A first cousin to Miss Burd is Rear Admiral George E. Burd, U. S. N., industrial manager of the New York Navy Yard, and formerly of Belfast. The funeral services were held at Miss Burd's home on Saturday. There was a wealth of flowers. The burial will take place later in Belfast.

The Call from Bible Lands.

"The remotest place on the continent in these stirring days is not too secluded to feel the world-thrill, and to have a part in the great movements that are making the world a better place to live in, and alleviating its suffering." Mr. E. H. Boyington of Winterport has been chosen by the Maine State Sunday School Association and the International Sunday School Association, with headquarters in Chicago, as the leader of a campaign looking toward a Continent-Wide Sunday School Visitation Day, December 1st, when every Sunday School in North America will be visited by a representative of the Organized Sunday School Movement, in behalf of the suffering thousands in Bible lands.

"Christian North America" "is being called on at this time to pour out its money for Liberty Bonds and for War Service activities of every kind. It is responding nobly. Another challenging call, however, is sounding in the ears of the Christian people of North America. It is the call of over two million people in Bible lands—Armenians, Syrians and Greeks of Asia Minor.

"These people, who are the hope of civilization in Western Asia, have endured, and are enduring, such suffering as our American minds cannot conceive. They have been massacred and deported. Men have been separated from their families and ruthlessly murdered. Attractive women and girls have been sold as slaves or taken by the Turks. The rest of the women and the children have been driven into the mountains and the desert, and the path over which these refugees have gone is strewn with the dead. In the past two years over one million have died from massacre, deportation, exposure and disease. But the dead no longer challenge us; it is those who live and can yet be saved.

"The ravages of the war the past year have added to the horror. The Turkish armies have destroyed everything in their wake. Four million people destitute of home, clothed only in rags, are facing the cold of winter and starvation. One million of these can be reached by relief agencies. Four hundred thousand of them are orphans. The relief agencies can do nothing unless North America furnishes the money.

"The land where Christianity had its birth is asking for a practical demonstration of that Christianity now. All the Denominations have united to answer this call from the East and a campaign has been launched to raise two million dollars from the Sunday Schools of North America. Every Sunday School is asked to give a Christmas season offering to Armenian and Syrian Relief work.

"To make sure that no Sunday School is overlooked in this appeal, the International Sunday School Association is planning to have every Sunday School visited on December 1st for the purpose of explaining the need, creating enthusiasm and pledging the schools to make as large an offering as possible. The International Sunday School Association in this campaign is working in co-operation with the Armenian and Syrian Relief Committee in New York, and the two million which they are to raise is part of a larger campaign on the part of the Committee for thirty million dollars.

"The Armenian and Syrian Relief Committee have already done a wonderful work in ministering to these suffering people and have been enabled to save thousands of lives. The Committee is directed by leading men of the Continent and its work has been highly endorsed by President Wilson, and Sir Robert Borden, the Premier of Canada, and by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft. One feature of the work of the Committee is unique. It is enabled to devote all money collected for relief work to the immediate cause for which it is given. Expenses for collection, printing, postage and administration and the transmitting of funds, are met privately. Distribution of all supplies is cared for by the American Consular forces and American missionaries, whose services are loaned for this ministry."

FLORENCE A. FIELDING.

Florence A., wife of H. Southwick Fielding, passed away on Thursday, Oct. 24th, at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Forsaith, 11 Paris street, Everett. ## Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs.

The fourth annual convention of the Boys' and Girls' Agricultural Clubs will convene in this city on Friday and Saturday of this week and it is expected that it will be the largest gathering of this kind which has ever been held in Belfast and one of the most interesting and entertaining. The sessions will be held at the Armory opening in the morning of Friday and lasting during the day.

In the evening the boys and girls of the club will be entertained at the Colonial Theatre, where they will be the guests of Manager George Thompson and where with interesting pictures they are certain to have a very pleasant gathering. At six o'clock at the Red Men's hall there will be the annual banquet, which will be presided over by Orlando Frost who has always been a pleasing entertainer on those occasions. This banquet will be served by the ladies of the Pocahontas who have in the past been very successful and who served a very acceptable banquet there last year on a similar occasion.

Saturday forenoon at the Armory the program will be continued and it is desired that many residents of the city should attend these sessions and see what interesting and instructive programs have been arranged for the boys and girls of Waldo county who are interested in the country and farming work. Last year's reports were of the best in the State and the showing this year is certain to be of a very high standard.

There will be about a hundred and twenty boys and girls to be entertained in the city with room and board and the citizens of Belfast will be called upon to provide this entertainment. Parties in the city who have rooms and can entertain at meals or just with rooms will confer a great favor on the committee by calling or advising Capt. Orrin J. Dickey of that fact and it will also help make much pleasanter the occasion. The program is given as follows:

Nov. 8, 10.00 a. m. Registration and assignment of rooms.
1.30 p. m. Music, Isabel Frame; address of welcome, C. W. Wescott, (Mayor of Belfast and President of the Board of Trade); response, Mrs. B. L. ## Red Cross Notes.

The Waldo County Chapter has received the following letter:

Fort Rodman, New Bedford, Mass., October 30, 1918.
Dear Friends, Santa Claus visited us today. And to me, as in the trips he made me years ago, he came from "away up North." And his visit was as welcome.

It is that it would interest you to know where a few of your comfort kits have been distributed.

Those that came here now belong to the best companies of the best service Uncle Sam has, his Coast Artillery, at his best fortress, Fort Rodman. I thank you for myself and for the boys here who are indebted to your chapter.

Yours in our Country's Service,
PRI. RAYMOND E. SMITH.
1st Co. C. A. C.

An order has been received for 500 scrap-books to be made during November for the use of soldiers in hospitals abroad. These are to include one or more short magazine stories, a few jokes and an occasional article of more serious import. If you have magazines such as Harper's, Scribner's, Everybody's or any others in which the stories run along consecutively, uninterrupted by advertising or other material, you can participate in this good work by leaving the same as soon as possible either with Miss Annie V. Field, Primrose Hill, or with Mrs. John K. Dunton, No. 9 Church street. Colored pictures for the covers of about the size of regulation magazines, like those above mentioned would also be appreciated. Look in your attics for old files of magazines to be asked to participate.

A nursing survey is to be undertaken in Waldo County, the object of which is to obtain a complete list of graduate and semi-trained nurses. Mrs. Cecil Clay is the chairman of the committee having this work in charge.

Miss Annie L. Barr, Chairman of Conservation for Waldo County Chapter Red Cross, has sent 87 pounds of peach stones and nut shells to the collection center at Waterville.

She did not learn of their deaths until ready to return home.

The News of Belfast

The North Church Sewing Circle will meet Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 13th with Mrs. R. F. Dunton, Cedar street.

The G. G. Class of the Baptist church will have a sociable in the vestry next Tuesday evening. No admission charged.

Last Thursday was Hallowe'en night and it passed unnoticed with the exception of the children's play with jack-o'-lanterns.

The Camp Fire Girls held their regular ceremonial at the Unitarian Parsonage on Hallowe'en, and following the opening exercises the program contained features appropriate to that night. The room was darkened and a tall witch bearing a jack-o'-lantern entered and told astonishing fortunes to all the members. The guests of honor were Mrs. C. W. Wescott, Mrs. H. E. MacDonald, and Mrs. John David. The latter gave an entertaining and instructive illustrated talk on an imaginative trip to Pittsburgh. Last month the girls made house-to-house visits distributing literature descriptive of the work of the Y. W. C. A. among the soldiers, and collected seven pounds of tinfol for the collection at the Public Library. Their work this month is to assist in making scrapbooks for the soldiers in hospitals and in tying the small padded quilts that are sent to the French children.

MRS. SARAH J. MORSE.

Mrs. Sarah J. Morse, widow of Leander Morse, died at her home on Congress street Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th. She had been ill for the past ten months. The end came suddenly although she had been seriously ill for the past week. Mrs. Morse was born in Belmont Dec. 7, 1829, the daughter of the late Elisha and Relief (Belcher) Swift. She was a direct descendant of Gov. Belcher, Colonial Governor of Massachusetts. She was married to Mr. Morse, March 16, 1851, and her early married life was spent in Belmont. Later they lived in New Jersey for a few years and returned to Belfast, where they had since made their home. Mr. Morse died March 21, 1911. Five children were born to them, three of whom are deceased. Mrs. Morse is survived by a son, Edson L. Morse of Stonington and a daughter, Mrs. Lelia M. Cottrell, with whom she made her home and who had given her constant and loving care during her illness. She is also survived by four grandchildren. The son and daughter were at her bedside when the end came. Mrs. Morse was quiet and retiring and the dearest place to her was home. She was a great reader and read the war news with much interest. During her long illness she was patient and uncomplaining. She will be sadly missed by her daughter, who had been her constant companion since the death of Mr. Morse. The funeral will take place from her late home tomorrow, Friday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Arthur E. Wilson of the Unitarian church officiating. The interment will be in the family lot in Grove cemetery.

JOHN COCHRAN CHAPTER, D. A. R.

Thirteen members of John Cochran Chapter, D. A. R., were entertained at the home of Mrs. Clara Hamilton Seekins last Monday evening at a harvest feast and a Pilgrim party. Mrs. Cora J. Bowker and Miss Amy E. Stoddard were assistant hostesses. The dining room was most appropriately decorated with evergreens and princess pines woven in ropes extending from the center chandelier to the corners of the ceiling, while sprays festooned the doors, mantle, pictures, etc. Tiny crepe tissue flags were used galore in relieving the evergreen. The centerpiece was as original as it was appropriate—a miniature log cabin in its plot of green moss and fir trees. Not a single detail was omitted, as it was surrounded by the stone wall of primitive days and in every window was a Pilgrim face while one primitive little lady was near a rustic bench of pumpkins. The place cards appropriate to the season, contained picture puzzles of prominent men, which were to be placed and located by the guests. The room and table were lighted by candles and the sticks for the latter were red apples. Miss Isabel Ginn was toast mistress and the guests represented some Pilgrim and responded with anecdotes relative to the characters. Miss Stoddard represented John Alden and Mrs. Norman S. Donahue Priscilla. The toasts also included a brief history of the D. A. R., and its outlook for 1919. Patriotic music was enjoyed by all. The Chapter voted to give 10 cents per capita to the State fund for educating a descendant of some worthy Revolutionary soldier. Mrs. Evelyn C. Frost was made a committee to secure a list of the drafted and enlisted men from Belfast and will appreciate the assistance of relatives of the former in compiling a complete list.

Dr. Eugene D. Tapley left Monday for North Carolina, where he was called on professional business. He will return home as soon as possible.

Contrary to persistent reports the Waldo County Board of Exemption have received no call for drafted men the past week. The board is still busy with the examination of men who have responded to their draft examination number calls.

Emma White Barker Tent, D. of V. had a very satisfactory meeting last Tuesday evening in K. of P. hall, when their Tent was inspected by Mrs. Linnie Morrison of East Corinth. A picnic supper was also enjoyed. Mrs. Morrison was the guest over night of the President, Mrs. Mary Carter. The next meeting will be Nov. 19th in the Post room.

There have been 30 deaths for October reported to City Clerk, Charles S. Bickford. This is the largest number on record here. The next largest was 20 in March 1911. Of the 30 the past month 20 were caused by influenza or pneumonia following it. Dr. O. S. Vickery, chairman of the local board of health, says no new cases of influenza have been reported for the past two weeks. Wednesday afternoon it was reported from the Girls' Home that three out of their family of 14 were ill with grip in a light form.

WALDO COUNTY FARM BUREAU. Dean L. S. Merrill and P. W. Monohon of the University of Maine Extension Department were in Belfast Tuesday in the interests of forming a Waldo County Farm Bureau. The meetings were held in the city building and there were representative farmers from all the towns present. County Agent Norman S. Donahue spoke in regard to the work of the Extension demonstrations, etc., and of the outlook for next year. Mr. Monohon explained the work of the Farm Bureau and it was voted to organize one in the county. C. C. Clement of Winterport was made County Chairman.

Friends of Ira M. Condon and family, who formerly resided on Wight street in this city, have received some interesting letters from them from California, where they have been for the past two years. Mr. Condon states that the schools are all closed there on account of the epidemic, but everybody is working to save the tomato crop. The crews are paid ten cents per box for picking and the job will last about six weeks longer. They have just finished drying one hundred acres of peaches on the ranch where he is living. There has been a lack of rain there but the weather has been beautiful and much like summer. They are pleased with their new home and like the west very much, but expect to return here again in the coming summer.

MRS. SARAH J. MORSE.

Mrs. Sarah J. Morse, widow of Leander Morse, died at her home on Congress street Tuesday evening, Nov. 5th. She had been ill for the past ten months. Five children were born to them, three of whom are deceased. Mrs. Morse is survived by a son, Edson L. Morse of Stonington and a daughter, Mrs. Lelia M. Cottrell, with whom she made her home and who had given her constant and loving care during her illness. She is also survived by four grandchildren. The son and daughter were at her bedside when the end came. Mrs. Morse was quiet and retiring and the dearest place to her was home. She was a great reader and read the war news with much interest. The funeral will take place from her late home tomorrow, Friday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Arthur E. Wilson of the Unitarian church officiating. The interment will be in the family lot in Grove cemetery.

Sylvester; Tyler, Alvin Blodgett. The appointed officers will be named at this meeting.

THE ELECTION.

As The Journal goes to press, the Associated Press news states that Champ Clark and Senator Jones are defeated. These are two of the great election surprises. The same bulletin says that New York State is in doubt as to the Governor, and that the National House and Senate will be Republican. It is fair to assume, however, that the returns are incomplete from many of the States and later returns may change apparent results.

UNITED WAR WORK DRIVE.

When people give money they ought to know and have a right to know, whether or not a good use is to be made of it. Waldo county is asked to raise about $20,000 to be used by the associations engaged in the "United War Work Campaign." The money to be raised is in no sense an expenditure for charitable purposes, but is a small instalment on our debt to the men who have left comfort, home and dear ones, to fight for us who stay at home. We publish an article this week which tells the whole story clearly and truthfully. We feel very proud of the fact that we have in this county, oversubscribed our quota of the several issues of the Liberty Loan, but we should not forget that we have something to show for our money. We are no poorer. The support which we have given to the Red Cross and to the Y. M. C. A. was not for bonds, but for humanity. The money, which the writer knows will be forthcoming for the United War Work Campaign, is for humanity which is not only very near and dear to us, but which will be cheered and materially and morally benefited by the messages which reach them from home, in the way they are daily given by the different associations who are to be financed by us. We believe this appeal for funds will meet with a ready and generous response. The drive commences next Monday and we hope to go over the top in one week.

A LITTLE GOOD MONEY SAVED.

A special appropriation bill was introduced in the House of Representatives October 16th. The amount asked for was $8,559,859,999, an amount one-third larger than the last Liberty Loan. The committee on appropriations very wisely put a crimp in the war department's ambition to spend money, by reducing the appropriation about one-third. Among the items which call for the above enormous outlay, was one for $93,000,000 to enlarge the Neville Island ordnance plant and this was one of the items stricken out. This was done because the head of Secretary Baker's ordnance bureau informed the committee that their new program called for 14,000 new guns of large calibre and that if the appropriation was allowed they would be able to finish the first gun early in 1920. Making allowance for the usual delays and change of plans, this gun would perhaps be finished in season to be used in celebrating the defeat of the Democratic party in November of that year. We do not know but that would give the country $93,000,000 worth of satisfaction, but as a means of winning this war that gun would not be worth a whoop.

HOW TO SELECT MEAT.

At a conference attended by Secretary Daniels of the Navy, Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Hoover of the Food Administration, and representatives of the Quartermaster General of the Army and of the Paymaster General of the Navy, a unanimous agreement was reached that all future purchases of beef for our Army, Navy and Marine Corps and fighting forces of the allies shall be made on a basis of quality, irrespective of weight. The representatives of the other departments agreed that the Department of Agriculture should select the meats on the basis of quality through its inspectors at the purchasing markets.

"In a multitude of counsellors there is wisdom." The distinguished men who attended that conference are in possession of a degree of intelligence which is little less than marvelous. Who but Daniels, a Houston, a Hoover et als., would ever have discovered that meats should be selected on the basis of quality.

Here and there a Democratic speaker denies that President Wilson ever used the expression "too proud to fight." He used this expression May 10, 1915, three days after the sinking of the Lusitania. The place was in Philadelphia. The expression may be found recorded on page 117 of "State Paper's and Addresses by Woodrow Wilson," published by the Review of Reviews. It reads as follows: There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a Nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right." Yes, "there is such a thing" but three days after the Lusitania was torpedoed was not exactly the time when the occasion demanded such a man or such a nation.

The Journal has no comment to make on the President's appeal to voters when "politics is adjourned." It seems to the editor that Mr. Roosevelt, in his speech in Carnegie Hall, said everything which need be said. Every voter in the United States should read what Mr. Roosevelt said.

PREVENT INFLUENZA

If you are "run down" or out of condition, if sluggish bowels have allowed poisonous impurities to accumulate in your system you are liable to suffer severely with the grip. Dr. True's Elixir, the famous household remedy of 67 years' reputation, may ward off the grip or make an attack light and easily thrown off. Why? Because is a vegetable medicine that puts the system in good condition, prevents and relieves constipation, stimulates the appetite and improves the digestive powers. It can do no harm. It is purely vegetable. Ask your druggist for it, or write DR. J. F. TRUE & CO., Auburn, Me. 40c., 60c., $1.00.

JEFFERSON DAVIS.

He had the pride, the spirit of initiative, the capacity in business which qualify men for leadership, and lacked nothing of indomitable will and imperious purpose to make his leadership effective. What he did lack was wisdom in dealing with men, willingness to take the judgment of others in critical matters of business, the instinct which recognizes ability in others and trusts it to the utmost to play its independent part. He too much loved to rule, had too overweening a confidence in himself, and took leave to act as if he understood much better than those did who were in actual command what should be done in the field. He sought to control too many things with too feminine a jealousy of any rivalry in authority.—Woodrow Wilson on Jefferson Davis in the "History of the American People."

"WHAT SAY" MR. PRESIDENT?

The Republican candidate for Congress from Arizona is in military service in France. His Democratic opponent is stumping Arizona keeping politics in continuous session. Upon reading Wilson's appeal the "Tucson Citizen" wired President Wilson:

"Referring to your appeal to the country to return a Democratic congress, can you have any possible objection to the election of Lieutenant Maddock, who has been serving his country in France since last May? Do you think his election would be misunderstood on the other side of the water? On the other hand, would not his defeat be taken in Germany as a repudiation of our fighting forces?"

POLITICS IN SESSION.

The Democratic National Committee has been sending out the following to Italian voters: "It has been President Wilson and the Democratic administration which has come to the rescue of Italy and its people in unstinted measure and in many ways. Up to September 1, 1918, we have loaned to the Italian government seven hundred and sixty millions of dollars."

Yes, "we have loaned" but where did "we" get the money?

The district agents of the United States Department of Agriculture, who are engaged in emergency poultry work, held a meeting not long ago in Kansas City. The object was to "take a census of recent results" and to "launch another campaign for the efficient production of poultry and eggs." We obtained the above facts from the "War Work Weekly No. 23," which is issued from the public printing office in Washington. This sheet further informs the public that the "district agents" have found that it is not profitable to keep hens unless they lay eggs enough to pay for what they eat. Let the good work go on. Investigators often make wonderful discoveries.

Mr. McAdoo has said that money would win the war. Mr. Daniels has said that the Navy would win the war. Mr. Hoover has said that food would win the war. Mr. Hurley has said ships would win the war. The fact is no one of these could alone win the war, and all combined would not win the war without the boys in khaki. It seems rather strange that somebody high up has not mentioned that.

Fred Hale had doubtless much rather Carl Milliken would aspire to the Presidency of Bates College than to a United States Senatorship—Knox Messenger.

Cheer up, senator. You will have four years and five months of official life before catastrophe will impend and then the primary vote may decide in favor of Bates College.

There is reason to believe that the President has never for a moment considered peace negotiations with Germany until after the German field armies had accepted such terms of surrender as Marshal Foch deemed it necessary to impose.—Washington Dispatch to the Sun.

He should have made that plain in his first armistice note.

One of the stock arguments in favor of government ownership of railroads was that it would reduce freight rates and lower the cost of commodities. We would like to be informed when this reduction will take place.

United War Work Campaign

Opens Next Monday and the Drive will Continue One Week.

What is it? It is the most colossal free will offering campaign in the interest of the human family that the world has ever seen.

The Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council (K. of C.), the Jewish Welfare Board, the American Library Association, the War Camp Community Service and the Salvation Army have conducted individual campaigns in the past for funds to carry on their war work at home and abroad.

They will do so no more.

The very character of their work has welded them all so close together that they have mobilized all their forces on common ground. Thus Catholic and Protestant, Jew and Gentile, will stand shoulder to shoulder in this great United War Work Campaign.

One hundred and seventy million, five hundred thousand dollars is the goal set. And the division will be as follows, just exactly as the heads of the various organizations agreed unanimously that it should be:

Young Men's Christian Association	$100,000,000
Young Women's Christian Association	15,000,000
National Catholic War Council (K. of C.)	30,000,000
Jewish Welfare Board	3,500,000
American Library Association	3,500,000
War Camp Community Service	15,000,000
Salvation Army	3,500,000
Total.	$170,500,000

Do you realize, folks, that the vast sum of $170,500,000 is the largest sum of money that any Nation of people have been asked to raise as a free will gift in the history of mankind?

And now what is it all to be spent for? It is to be spent for your boy and mine, or somebody's else boy, so that when he comes in from the front line trench "over there," wracked in mind and spent in body, he may find a welcome and a semblance of home out there in that inferno of bloody war.

It is to be spent for chocolate and coffee that is handed him steaming hot, even as he reloads another charge for the benefit of the Hun.

It is to be spent for books for him to read so that he can at least temporarily forget the ever recurring horrors that he goes through.

It is to be spent for clothing so that he may cast aside his mud soaked uniform after sloughing all day long through the Flanders country on a rainy day.

It is to be spent for recreation and entertainment that he must have to keep his poise.

Yes? It is to be spent for your boy and mine "Over There" and "Over Here."

Both General Pershing and General Foch has emphasized over and over again the great principle that morale is the chief factor in winning the war.

But this campaign represents even more than that. It stands for the eventual home coming of your boy and mine, or somebody's else boy, still clean in mind and body—and in many instances with an increased breadth of character that will mean not only much to the home that he returns to but to the whole life of the country in the future days to come as well.

Millions of boys cannot suddenly be snatched from their homes and grouped together in camps and cantonments without the loss of home influence.

At the cantonment and in the field, home is missing and the gentle influence of womanhood is absent. There is bound to be a departure from the wholesome amusement, the religious influence, the young man is used to—all factors that tend to keep a man clean, high minded and well poised.

That is of course unless some substitute for home influence is created.

And there is the story, folks. The work of the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council (K. of C.), the Jewish Welfare Board, the American Library Association, the War Camp Community Service, and the Salvation Army is this substitute for the home influence.

This great United War Work Campaign is simply our own community work carried into the training camps and among the troops in the field. In a word it is a case of YOU contributing your bit to make the life of your own boy or somebody else's boy just a bit more comfortable during the stress of the mighty conflict which is being waged for the very safety and future peace of this great country of ours.

Let us follow one single soldier on the long road that leads from his front door to far away France, and see how these seven organizations that you are asked to aid as one join hands to form a great chain of helpfulness all the way.

He steps aboard a troop train that is to carry him to the cantonment. A long lonesome ride, full of homesick thoughts, but, perhaps, there is a hand furnished by the Jewish Welfare League or the War Camp Community service to speed him on his way, and on the train are friends whom he had not expected—a Y. M. C. A., or a K. of C. secretary—a big friendly fellow, who has traveled for months with other boys just like him, and knows how to help.

At the cantonment the evidence that the folks back home are thinking of him lies on every side. Here are 750 great homey huts of the K. of C., the Y. M. C. A., the Jewish Welfare Board and the Salvation Army, and in the adjoining towns are the club houses of the War Camp Community Service.

These huts are where he can write letters home, play games at night, witness motion picture shows, hear helpful lectures, attend church service, keep up with his studies under the direction of the best college professors and teachers in the country.

and sweetheart may make their headquarters when they visit. In all these buildings are branch libraries provided by the American Library Association and filled with books and magazines. In 43 of the large camps and several hundred smaller ones are library buildings besides, with trained librarians and comfortable reading rooms.

If your boy or mine happens to wander into a nearby big city on a short furlough the same wholesome influence follows him. At every station and certain points of the city War Camp Community workers are located. They tell the boy in uniform where he can eat and sleep, and interesting places to go.

When the times comes for the soldier to leave for France secretaries of the above named organizations are aboard the train which carries him to his point of embarkation. Aboard the transport are other secretaries, and these men do nothing but cross and recross the ocean just to be of service to the boys. On shipboard they furnish writing material, organize games and give moving picture shows and other forms of entertainment.

On the other side the same work goes on. There are huts in the big cities and close to the firing line. The huts follow the soldiers and the influences go with them always. Even if your boy or mine is captured by the foe the work goes on just the same. In Switzerland the Y. M. C. A. and the K. of C. have established headquarters and from here the work of helpfulness is carried out even in the prison camps of Germany and Austria.

To be sure $170,500,000 is a lot of money, but think of the investment, folks!

It means less than one dollar a week for each of the boys in our army and navy. And certainly no one in America will say that a dollar a week is too much for their cheer and entertainment.

Foch and Pershing have said the morale is the greatest factor in winning the war. The military army is fighting the foe on the field of battle.

You and I at home, no matter who we are, compose the great civilian army. Our fight is to keep the morale of the military army what it should be.

The military army is absolutely dependent on the civilian army.

And beside it is your boy and mine, or somebody else's boy.

Belgian Indemnity.

The Belgian Government is already preparing with great minuteness its schedule of damages, for which it will demand indemnity from Germany. Let us hope that it will make a thorough job of it, not overlooking nor abating a single farthing's worth of such losses as can be computed in pecuniary terms. And when that is done, let the complete satisfaction of that claim be the inexorable sine qua non of peace for Germany and of her renewed intercourse with the civilized world. Belgium suffered the first blows from the felonious bully of Potsdam, and has suffered the worst spoliation and ravishment; and she must have the first and fullest reparation. Less than that would be dishonor to the world.

They are Always Hung.

Conditions in Russian territory occupied by the Germans are described in an official Russian wireless message, which says: "From all regions now in German occupation it is reported that the German military authorities are carrying off everything that it is possible to take to Germany. They are devastating the country. In White Russia there are no horses and no cattle because the Germans have taken them all. In the regions where evacuation is pending the fields remain uncultivated because the Germans have left no seed. Children are dying of starvation. Milk cannot be obtained. Household furniture, telegraphic and telephonic instruments and appliances from many towns have been sent to Germany. The railway lines have been stripped, only wrecked and useless cars being left behind."

Two Resolutions.

"Resolved, That it is the sense of the Senate that there should be no further communication with the German Government upon the subject of an armistice or conditions of peace, except a demand for unconditional surrender."—Senator Lodge.

The Democratic attitude is equally clear. It is embodied in the following resolution introduced by Senator J. Hamilton Lewis:

"Resolved, That the United States Senate approves whatever course may be taken by the President of the United States in the matter of his replies and in his dealings with the German Imperial Government and the Austrian Imperial Government and the allies of either or both, in response to the demand of either for peace or armistice."

A nurse had been called as a witness to prove the correctness of the bill of a physician.

"Let us get at the facts in the case," said the lawyer, who was doing a cross-examining stunt. "Didn't the doctor make several visits after the patient was out of danger?"

"No sir," answered the nurse. "I considered the patient in danger as long as the doctor continued his visits."

MERCY MUNITIONS NEEDED IN TRENCHES

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson, Fighting Author, Makes Stirring Appeal for Y. W. C. A.

Lieut. Coningsby Dawson, who wrote "Carry On," says of the war work which the Y. W. C. A. is doing: "You at home cannot fight with your lives, but you can fight with your mercy. The Y. W. C. A. is offering you just this chance. It garrisons the women's support trenches, which lie behind the men's. It asks you to supply them with munitions of mercy that they may be passed on to us. We need such supplies badly. Give generously that we may the sooner defeat the Hun."

What Lieut. Dawson says of the Y. W. C. A. he might have said of all the national organizations which are coming together for the biggest financial campaign that organizations have ever headed. All the $170,500,000 to be raised by the seven great national organizations the week of November 11 will be used to garrison and supply the support trenches behind the lines. They are the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the National Catholic War Council, Jewish Welfare Board, American Library Association, War Camp Community Service and Salvation Army.

American girls in various uniforms mingle strangely with picturesque Brittany costumes in France. The American Y. W. C. A. has a hostess house in Brittany where the Signal Corps women live and a hut where the nurses spend their free time. Both these centers are fitted with many of the comforts and conveniences of home.

"At a tea given at the nurses' hut one Saturday afternoon," writes Miss Mabel Warner, of Salina, Kansas, Y. W. C. A. worker there, "there was an odd gathering—one admiral, a bishop, a Presbyterian minister, a Roman Catholic priest, a doctor, an ensign, one civilian and myself."

First Victory Boy's Work.

"Say, I'm with you, all right," a Western Union messenger boy whispered to one of the directors of the United War Work Campaign in the New York headquarters. The director's desk had only just been moved in and the work of the big drive had hardly begun.

"I'm onto your stunt," the boy went on as he swung a grimy fist over the desk; "you're going to give us fellows that ain't old enough to go to war a chance to earn an' give to back up a fighter an' help win the war. Listen; I'm in on this."

The crumpled $5 bill he dropped on the desk made him the first of a million boys behind a million fighters who are to be lined up as Victory Boys during the week of the drive.

There will be a division of Victory Girls, too, and every boy and every girl enrolled will have to earn every dollar he or she gives to the war work fund.

Bogus Book Agents.

Agents in many places are canvassing from door to door with publications purporting to be issued by the Government representing that they have government sanction. They are charging as high as $4.75 for the publication.

The Food Administration has been requested to warn people in Maine that no publications have been authorized by the Government. The publications issued by the Government are always given away or sold at cost, or in the case of certain school text books prepared by the Food Administration sold under contract with the publisher to charge the price fixed by competition ranging from twenty cents (20c) to half a dollar. Anyone who engages in a scheme such as above described is guilty of false representation if no more. All such cases should be reported to the Department of Justice for action.

Write Cheerful Letters.

When you write to your soldier overseas, be cheerful above all else. Write as though he were in the next town on a business trip. Tell him how the house and garden look, the talk of the neighbors, and who has been the latest one to enlist; how the Liberty Loans and the Red Cross drives make out. But never, never write that you are having a hard time. If you should be having a hard time, apply for help to the Red Cross. From the November Red Cross Magazine.

I have been talking with some of the instructors here, all of them men who prior to May 15th last were in civil life, and judging from the number of student officers who have passed through the school, and the records of their scores fired while taking the course, the school is the biggest kind of a success. These instructors certainly were well chosen. Every one of them has come through in line style, and all are enthusiastic about their work. Of course I can not expect to get to know all of them, but from what I have seen and from the talks I have had with Lee Raymond, Richard Linder, Short, McBride, Fort and a few others, I don't believe that President Wilson himself could have picked out a better corps of instructors. In my next letter, if I am not still too full of the matches, I want to tell you something about some of these fine fellows.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

I notice in your Department you speak of Krag rifles being found not very amenable to the use of Mobilabrant on the bullets fired in them. Does this apply to all Krag?

O. A. S., Trenton, A. T.

No. Moreover, in clubs reporting that their Krag shot worse when grease was used on the bullets than they did when it was not, it may be that too much grease was used. It is a matter for the individual rifleman to find out for himself, with the rifle he uses. The bullet should be covered with only a thin coating of the grease, evenly applied by giving the bullet a whirl in the grease. No grease should be allowed to get on the neck of the shell.

Does the United States Revolver Association have rating medals or decorations for proficiency in pistol shooting, as the N. R. A. has for rifle shooting?

A. A. A., Telluride, Colo.

Yes, for two styles of shooting, deliberate or slow fire and rapid fire, 10 shots in the former and 5 in the latter. Awards are, for a score of 80 or 100 or better in slow fire (10 shots in 12 minutes or less) or 35 or 50 in rapid fire (5 shots in 15 seconds with the military arm or 5 shots in 30 seconds with a pocket arm), a bronze medal; for 85 slow or 36 rapid, bronze and silver; for 90 slow or 39 rapid, silver; for 95 slow or 41 rapid, silver and gold; for 95 slow or 43 rapid, gold.

What is the best way to make a duck blind and what kind of material would you recommend for hunting in the Dune Park section?

S. Y., Chicago, Ill.

Depends largely upon the spot selected. You will do best to build your blind out of material at hand where you put out your decoys, and should make it as inconspicuous as possible, especially remembering that it will be viewed from aloft and likewise with suspicion if it appears where no such structure—preparably a growth—would be if Nature were the builder. A muskrat house, of which there are some in the ponds where you intend to hunt, makes a good hiding place even though conspicuous, because muskrat houses belong in the picture, so to speak. Wire netting and burlap are both useful under some circumstances, for example, when natural blind material is scarce and hard to use to good advantage. But the man who builds the most successful blinds will generally be found to use only the camouflage he is able to gather on the spot. Incidentally, the valuable to sit still in a thin blind is as valuable to the hunter as anything he possesses; ducks that might not see you at twenty yards if you keep still, will veer off long before coming into range if you bob about in the blind.

WHEN NOYON WAS EVACUATED

Despairing Villagers Could Not at Once Believe That Savage Huns Were Really Gone.

Noyon was before the war just one of the many sleepy old French provincial towns, with an hotel de ville, and a cathedral, and little gray streets twisting out into a rich, green agricultural plain; now, writes Elizabeth Shepley Sergeant, in the Century, it will always be remembered as the town nearest to Paris—only 65 miles away—where the enemy stayed for two and a half years. It had been used during the occupation as a sort of concentration center from the actual firing line. Before the retreat, however, virtually all the useful members of the community had been deported; all the men between sixteen and sixty—there were a good many of territorial age not mobilized during the first days of the war, and therefore caught by the German invasion—and most of the women between the same ages except those who had dependent children. It was, then, a community largely made up of old women and children and of the very old, who, on a certain Thursday in March, were ordered to go into their houses, close their shutters, and not come out for 48 hours. Promptly a series of explosions began, very alarming explosions, which made the poor people inside tremble. What new horror were they up to now? The sounds went on for a day and a half, gradually growing fewer on the second morning. By afternoon, strangely, nothing whatever could be heard; not a voice, not a rumble. The boldest spirits pushed open the shutters a little and perceived that the streets were absolutely deserted—the gray-green soldiers were nowhere to be seen. Slowly and cautiously, halting at every step, they ventured out and up into the center of the town, coming back with the astonishing news, the news nobody dared believe, that the Germans were gone. They had blown up the bridges, burned a few factories, cut down trees along the roadsides, and made off. Even then the French inhabitants believed there must be some trick about it; and when their own soldiers, looking unfamiliar in blue uniforms instead of the old red and black, entered the town the next morning, they tried, in the midst of the tears and welcomes, to hold them back lest they get caught in an ambush. It was true, though; the people of the Noyon region were again free citizens of France.

Great Millennial Hope.

The horizon of the hopes of man is never quite so clear that the exact moment of sunrise or of sunset may be marked. But a great millennial hope is none the less to be treasured as the goal of all striving. Just when its object will be reached—if that object be an enduring peace, and if the means for securing it be that perpetual alliance of free nations which now appears to embody the most promising plan yet devised for its attainment—none may certainly declare. But whatever methods may be pursued to this end the hope behind it and the confidence that it is a reasonable and righteous hope are the highest justifications for everything that everybody can do to achieve the victory of the allies with whom our nation is joined. There is no weapon in the spiritual armor of the noncombatant that needs more constantly to be kept bright.—M. A. De Wolfe Howe, in Atlantic.

Napoleon Still Points Way.

In a tiny French village that is hardly a village any more, since shells almost removed it from the earth, one building has a tower standing untouched. A platform tops this tower and a miniature figure of Napoleon stands there facing and pointing toward the positions held by the Germans.

Thousands of shells have whizzed and exploded by this tower, but none has touched the tower or the figure of Napoleon pointing northward. Thousands of Americans, thousands of trucks, quantities of guns and ammunition and supplies have rolled over the main street by this figure pointing the way to the boche during the past few weeks.

Everyone has marveled that the tower with the miniature Napoleon withstood all bombardment, and many an American passing the statue among the ruins has remarked how appropriate is this defiant figure pointing the way.

Concrete Ship Not New.

That the much-talked-of new concrete ship Edith, generally considered a discovery in ship building that will revolutionize the industry, was antedated by some 12 years in the Philippines is a fact not generally known, even to Filipinos. The bureau of navigation of the islands constructed in 1905, however, a floating re-enforced concrete dock for the use of boats in the Pasig river, a dock which is in use to this day, and perhaps the first success achieved in the use of concrete in shipbuilding.

Remarkable Tactics.

In "ground flying" tactics the pilot acts mainly on his own personal initiative, and he must be prepared to attack the enemy wherever he may be found, either with bombs, grenades, darts or machine-gun fire. Thus German officers in charge of ammunition dumps have every reason to fear the approach of British "low fliers." The fear of machine-gun fire is even greater, and whole German regiments have been decimated and demoralized by British airplanes.

Putting on the Brakes.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20. Cancellation of contracts for $60,000,000 worth of troopships which were to have been built at new government shipyard at Alameda, Cal., and the stopping of the work of building at that plant were announced today by Chairman Hurley of the shipping board. Work on the yard began early last July. Decision not to build the troopships was reached some three weeks ago. Mr. Hurley said that it was realized that they could not be delivered before 1920 and would be of little use in the military program.

SPANISH INFLUENZA RAGES IN U.S.

Thousands of Cases Reported With Many Deaths.

THOSE WHO ARE MOST SUSCEPTIBLE TO IT

"FRUIT-A-TIVES"—The Wonderful Fruit Medicine—Greatly Helps To Resist This Disease.

The epidemic of Spanish Influenza which played such havoc in Europe, has reached this continent. Thousands of cases of the strange malady have appeared and many deaths are already reported; Surgeon-General Blue of the United States Public Health Service having stated that "Spanish Influenza will probably spread all over the country in six weeks."

Practically every ship which touches our shores from abroad, brings those infected with the disease.

Surgeon-General Blue urges that "the individual take all the precautions he can against contracting the disease by care and personal hygiene." Plenty of exercise should be taken; the diet should be regulated, etc.

Spanish Influenza affects most severely elderly persons and others whose powers of resistance are weakened by illness, work or worry, especially those who are "run-down" or "not feeling up to the mark."

The really great danger from the disease is not so much in the disease itself, as that it often develops into pneumonia.

What everyone needs now is a general tonic like "Fruit-a-tives." This wonderful fruit medicine is not a germ-killer. It is a body-builder; a strength-maker; a blood-purifier; a power in protecting against the ravages of disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended. "Fruit-a-tives" keeps the skin active, and purifies and enriches the blood. "Fruit-a-tives" tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, insuring food being properly digested and assimilated.

Everyone can take ordinary precautions, avoid crowded places, and use "Fruit-a-tives" regularly to insure sound digestion, to keep the bowels and kidneys regular and the whole system in the best possible condition. Then we are safe from disease.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c or sent postpaid on receipt of price by FRUIT-A-TIVES Limited, OGDENSBURG, N. Y.

PROSPECT FERRY.

Albert Mills and son Percy motored to Brooksville last Saturday and visited relatives.

Otis Ginn of Bangor was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ginn.

There are no cases of influenza in this place as yet. The schools at Mt. Heagen and at the Ferry are still in session.

Mrs. Charles Banks and Mrs. Rufus Harriman called on Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gilkey in Searsport one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harriman have moved to Sandpoint and will spend the winter with their daughter, Mrs. J. S. Pierce.

Mrs. Azelia Ginn, formerly of this place, is sick in a hospital in Bangor with influenza. Her many friends hope to soon hear of her recovery.

Household Fuel Coal Situation.

At a recent meeting of the Fuel Conservation Bureau of New England the Federal Fuel Administrator plainly stated that there was a serious shortage in anthracite coal of the sizes adapted to domestic use. There seems to be little reason for thinking that those who have received the two-thirds of their usual supply will have any more at any time during the winter or the spring. Acute as the household fuel coal situation was last year, it bids fair to be still worse this winter.

Would it not be wise for somebody in officialdom to find out the facts? We have had a surfeit of misinformation about coal.

A Song of the Hun Hunters.

The skipper stood upon the bridge, and blood was in his eye; Seized he: "We'll get the blinking Hun, or know the reason why." So he threw her over, and off we went, hell bent on the starboard leg, And when we made the sick of oil the Old Girl dropped her egg.

The Old Girl dropped an egg, my boys, And then dropped several more; And the Huns down in that submarine Will never get to shore.

Will never get to shore, my boys, It's good-bye, Ger-ma-nee; For every egg the Old Girl drops Is filled with T. N. T.

Songs of the Hun Hunters.

Victors in the Air.

Entente air supremacy is admitted in German documents recently captured. A German battalion report captured on the Flanders front says: "Enemy airmen are absolutely masters in the air here. They are far more numerous than ours. They carry out their reconnaissance by day and night and scouts, singly or in larger formations, penetrate far behind our lines."

"The same German report goes on to reveal that troops in that sector had received no hot food for three days owing to their kitchens being destroyed by bombing machines."

"The inadequacy of our protection against aircraft," another report by a German corps commander states, "is being felt more and more. All the aerial combats were on our side of the lines."

Whenever you see a great man you are likely to find a great woman just around the corner.

Who Knows?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28. There will be no coal famine the coming winter, nor even an approach to the hardships of last winter, Fuel Administrator Garfield announces, but the public must continue to co-operate with the fuel commission in conservation methods, as far more coal is needed now than in normal times.

Dr. Garfield, in a statement on the present outlook, says the nation's fuel supplies, assembled in preparation for an unusually severe winter, are adequate and well distributed; that coal stocks on hand are greater than ever before and that more domestic coal is now in the hands of consumers and dealers than at the corresponding period in normal years.

Emergency Period in Shipbuilding is Past.

A general revision of the shipbuilding program, affecting the output of steel as well as wood vessels, appears at hand. Chairman Hurley of the shipping board is quoted as saying in Philadelphia that the time to begin easing up on construction has come. At the same time Director General Schwab of the Emergency Fleet Corporation declared: "We are no longer meeting an emergency now, as the emergency period is past. What we are striving for now is economy and permanency of production. Economic permanency should now be the slogan."

"Taken in connection with the important conferences last week, which it is now known had to do not only with the curtailment of wooden shipbuilding, but also concerned readjustment of the steel program, these utterances are regarded as significant."

"The time has come," Mr. Hurley stated, "when we must begin to ease up. This easing up process must be applied to steel ships as well as wooden ones, but as the number of wooden ships already completed added to the number contracted for and which shall be constructed, will fill the demand for ships of that kind, we are curtailing production beyond that point. Therefore the wooden ship program will be completed by the end of 1919, as we are making no contracts to run into 1920."

Mr. Hurley added that in the process of elimination of certain of the shipbuilding projects those shipyards showing a very small production or which have failed to maintain the required standard of industrial efficiency will of course come first. The shipping board has already cancelled contracts for 50,250-ton wooden barges and a like number of tugboats to haul them.

Just where the cutting will hit the steel ship program is still in doubt, but it is known that some of the small yards are not functioning to the entire satisfaction of officials, and they will probably be affected in the not distant future.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZ, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I can't sleep." "It seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultz's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

PENOBSCOT BAY ELECTRIC CO.

RHEUMATISM

The Way to Get Rid of It Is to Remove the Cause.

The fact that rheumatism depends on an excess of uric acid in the blood, affecting the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain, is well established. This excess is due to some defect in the processes of digestion and absorption, and to torpidity or sluggishness of the liver, kidneys and skin.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism because it acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and through the blood on the liver, kidneys and skin, which it stimulates, and builds up the whole system.

Get rid of these rheumatic pains and aches by taking this medicine.

Emmy Wehlen, Thursday

Delightful Emmy Wehlen, the star of "The House of Gold," a Metro All-Star Series screen play which is today's attraction, has been acclaimed the fashion queen of the screen. In this brilliant picture-play of society life, Miss Wehlen wears many elaborate gowns, which are said to surpass anything which this screen fashion-plate has ever worn before the motion picture camera. Every woman and most men will want to see "The House of Gold."

The Official War Pictures, showing scenes on the front, and Mr. and Mrs. Sidew Drew in one of their famous comedies, will complete a most attractive program for Thursday.

My Own United States, Friday.

"My Own United States" pictures the most interesting pages of American history. It is not a war picture, but a dramatic sensation presenting the inner struggle of a human soul. Philip Nolan, "the man without a country," is the dominating character around which this vital dramatic story centers. This youthful young man, who became "clay in the hands of the potter," Aaron Burr, is depicted with great sincerity to facts in his youthful romances and moments of tragic struggle. All the finer artistry at the command of America's foremost actor, Mr. Arnold Daly, is brought into play in portraying Nolan, in whom are combined the sensitiveness of an idealist and the recklessness of an adventurer.

The entire picture is played against a chain of historical events—the dual of Hamilton and Burr, the battle of the famous frigate "Constitution" with the Algerian pirates, and other scenes of equal import, each of which is enacted with utmost fidelity. By special government permission, the original veteran of the American navy, the "Constitution," was used for the scenes transpiring on board "Old Ironsides."

"My Own United States" helps you to become better acquainted with the history of the greatest republic on the face of the globe—the United States of America. See this eight reel drama, Friday.

William A. Hart, Saturday.

A true Hart picture is offered Saturday, "Riddle Gawne," the story of which follows: Known through the west as "Riddle Gawne," because of his undying hate of mankind, Jefferson Gawne lives with his niece and patiently seeks the man who is responsible for his brother's death. When Kathleen Harkness arrives to visit her uncle she is insulted by one Cass, member of a gang led by Hame Bozzam, the boss of the section and the real murderer for whom Gawne is searching, and Gawne comes to her rescue. An intimacy springs up between them. Numerous attempts are made by the sheriff, in Hame's pay, to arrest Gawne. Blanche Dillon, Hame's woman, also loves Gawne and plots with Cass to bring about the satisfaction of their separate desires. While he is unconscious she drapes his arm about her shoulders and permits Kathleen to see them. Kathleen, brokenhearted, will have no more to do with Gawne. Later, Hame and Cass capture Kathleen and Jane, Gawne's niece, and make for the hills. Gawne pursues. He is wounded as he approaches and Hame comes to his side to taunt him before he kills him. But by a dexterous move Gawne gains the upper hand and throws Hame from a high cliff to his death on the rocks below. A happy ending follows.

A Pathe News and a Lonesome Luke Comedy will be included in the family offering for Saturday.

Viola Dana, Monday.

"The Only Road" is a fascinating photodrama of Southern California. Viola Dana plays the part of Nita a girl who has been brought up by Mexicans, ignorant of her true parentage. Nita peddles in a donkey-cart the vegetables raised by Manuel and Rosa Lopez, her foster-parents. Love comes into her when Bob Armstrong arrives from the East to make good on the Hawkins ranch. She and Bob become interested in each other, which does not suit the plans of Ramon Lupo, a scheming lawyer, who knows that the girl is the heiress to a large estate, and wishes her to marry his son. A rescue, a pursuit by a gang of Mexican "greasers," and an escape at the very point of death, are among the breath-taking incidents that bring "The Only Road" to a brilliant and satisfying climax.

In connection with "The Only Road," a Klever comedy and a Burton Holmes Travelogue will be shown.

Madge Kennedy—Tom Moore, Tuesday.

"The Danger Game" is the strongest play ever assigned to Madge Kennedy and the part of Clytie Rogers is the only dramatic role she has ever essayed. Yet the play is such a clever mixture of melodrama and comedy that excitement, suspense, heart throbs and smiles follow one another in rapid succession. Miss Kennedy has the part of Clytie Rogers, a society girl, whose great ambition is to write a big novel. When she writes her book it is received coldly and, disgusted and resentful, Clytie sets forth to prove that the incidents she invented for her heroine can really happen to a girl. Her amazing adventures cause her to elope with a man, then elude him at the moment of the nuptials. She becomes a full-fledged burglar and when about to be apprehended resorts to a novel way of circumventing her captor. Her adventures never cease from the moment she starts out to see life until she returns home, a wiser and sadder girl. For her change from lighter bits to drama, no better vehicle could have been chosen for Miss Kennedy's talents as a dramatic actress.

Tom Moore heads the supporting cast of "The Danger Game" which is shown Tuesday together with Mutt and Jeff and Current Events.

Dorothy Dalton, Wednesday.

You've heard and read enough about the German spy system. You know that it reaches its groping tentacles across the sea into the very daily life of each and everyone of us. Maybe you have a mental picture of what a German spy looks like. Maybe you suspect a neighbor. But before you shoot him or report him, learn the story of Paula Harris. She was the Kaiser's shadow. Paula Harris, the role taken by Dorothy Dalton, has been called by critics her strongest characterization up-to-date. "The Kaiser's Shadow" is a thriller and will be shown Wednesday only.

In Memoriam.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Avon G. Larby in the death of their son, Floyd at his home, late Thursday evening, Oct. 31st, after a week's illness of pneumonia, induced by an attack of influenza. He was among the registrants to report at Belfast Oct. 24th, and contracted a cold which resulted in the relapse from which he did not rally, despite the ministrations of loving hands and all available medical care.

Floyd N. Larby was born in Perham, Me., April 14, 1899, and came to Winterport with his family four years ago, and in those few years by his obliging disposition and unfailing courtesy, has endeared himself to all with whom he has associated. When he came among us, a lad of 15, his manly qualities and straightforward conduct, won friends and as the years passed the love and esteem of his friends increased. It can be truly said that his was a type of young manhood that is seldom equaled. His ideals were high and he was ambitious as a student. After finishing in the common schools, he attended High school at Monroe for several months, leaving there for a business course at Gilman's Commercial school in Bangor, but increasing duties at home demanded his assistance and for the past year he has remained with his parents. Floyd was the only son of a large family to reside at home and after a life of more than the common measure of sorrows and vicissitudes, the parents came to this new home where conditions were auspicious for a prosperous and peaceful future. Only recently the father and son purchased an adjoining farm intending to spend the coming years in companionship and mutual helpfulness, and to the parents his loss is irreparable. Besides the parents, the deceased is survived by a foster sister, Miss Mildred Larby, who has been an inmate of the household for seven years and the love of the two was like that of a brother and sister. There are also six half brothers and sisters, Virgil W. Linnell of Fillmore, Calif.; Edwin J. Linnell of Bangor; Mrs. Sadie Gallant of Berlin, N. H.; Mrs. Ethel Larby of Caribou; Byron R. Larby who is with the A. E. F. in France and Percy V. Larby at Camp Lee, Va. Brief funeral services were held on the lawn Friday afternoon at his late home and Rev. F. S. Dolliff of Jackson spoke words of comfort to the sorrowing relatives and friends. George Gould, Mrs. Fred Tasker, Mrs. M. A. Haley and Fred Cunningham of Monroe rendered several appropriate selections and M. A. Haley had charge of the arrangements. Beautiful blossoms brought by loving neighbors were around the casket and floral pieces from the family, Morning Light grange of Monroe and the Ladies' Club were received later and sent with the remains which were accompanied to Perham by the father, Saturday morning.

"I can not say and I will not say that he is dead—he is just away! With a cheery smile and a wave of the hand, He has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair It nee is must be, since he lingers there. And you,—O you, who the wildest yearn For the old-time step and the glad return— Think of him faring on, as dear In the love of There as the love of Here! Think of him still as the same, I say— He is not dead—he is just away." C. D. Y.

"THEY are our sons and brothers; flesh of our flesh. We have sent them across the sea to fight—but we are determined that they should know that the people at home are fighting with them, standing with them, shoulder to shoulder."

Why you should give twice as much as you ever gave before!

THE need is for a sum 70% greater than any gift ever asked for since the war began. The Government has fixed this sum at $170,500,000.

By giving to these seven organizations all at once, the cost and effort of six additional campaigns is saved.

Unless Americans do give twice as much as ever before, our soldiers and sailors may not enjoy during 1919 their

2500 Libraries supplying 5,000,000 books
85 Hostess Houses
15,000 Big-brother "secretaries"
Millions of dollars of home comforts.

When you give double, you make sure that every fighter has the cheer and comforts of these seven organizations every step of the way from home to the front and back again. You provide him with a church, a theatre, a cheerful home, a store, a school, a club and an athletic field—and a knowledge that the folks back home are with him, heart and soul!

You have loaned your money to supply their physical needs.

Now give to maintain the morale that is winning the war!

The postponed State W. C. T. U. meeting will be quite a gathering, after all. It will be held in Getchell St. Baptist church, Waterville, Dec. 4th and 5th, opening Wednesday a. m. and closing Thursday noon. Day sessions will include meetings of Executive Committee, reports of Sec. and Treas., of State War Relief Committee, Our Papers, election of officers, Recommendations of State President, County President's Hour, etc., etc. The evening session will be full of interest. William Veazie Pratt of Belfast, now in Washington, D. C., had endeavored to trace young Chapman's whereabouts in the records there, but finding that no misfortune had befallen him, assured his parents of his safety. Clarence wrote that he was well and happy and is at the front again. One letter bore date of August 3rd and the other of Oct. 8th.

United War Work mass meeting at the Opera House Saturday at 7.30 p. m.

You are invited to the Opera House next Saturday evening to a meeting in the interests of the United War Work Campaign.

There will be a meeting for the benefit of the county committees of the United War Work Campaign in the police court room, Memorial building, next Saturday at 1.30 p. m. A speaker from out the State will be present.

Frederick Graham of this city, formerly of Greenville, and William Kerkin, formerly of Boston, were operated on last Friday at the Waldo County Hospital for empyema, following severe cases of pneumonia. Both are convalescing.

The Spinney dancing school in Odd Fellows' Hall opened last Friday evening with about 25 couples in the class register and 45 or more in the assembly that followed. Others have also expressed their intention of joining the class. Good music was furnished by Leslie C. Follett, violin; Miss Lena E. Nye, piano and John Parker, traps and drum. The large number of uniformed young men present added to the evening's pleasure.

Mrs. E. P. Frost, past regent of John Cochran Chapter, D. A. R., has been made a committee to secure the names of the enlisted men from Belfast with particulars as to company, etc. She earnestly requests relatives of these boys and men to call her by phone, 151-14 or write. The Chapter plans to make the complete list and later secure a flag or some other suitable acknowledgment.

The High school began on the two session system last Monday and in common with all the grades and district schools will have a noon hour of 11.30 to 12.30. The grades will make up the lost time, caused by closing on account of the epidemic, by lengthening the afternoon session. Mr. E. E. Roderick, superintendent, thinks that the fifteen or more pupils who have employment outside of their high school work will find little, if any, inconvenience in this new arrangement.

The W. C. C. S. ROOMS OPENED. The reception rooms recently fitted up in Odd Fellows block by the committee on rooms for the W. C. C. S., Mrs. Marion E. Brown, chairman, were most auspiciously opened last Friday evening under the direction of Mrs. Cecil Clay and Mrs. Charles Bradbury of the hospital committee, who were also assisted by Mr. Bradbury of the entertainment committee. There were about fifteen uniformed men present who very graciously acknowledged their appreciation of the city's efforts in furnishing them rooms, the counterpart of many home living rooms. Mrs. Clay solicited the loan of a greater part of the furnishings including desks, tables, couch, easy chairs, pictures, flags, curtains and plants. The book cases and reading tables have been filled with books and magazines. A piano has been hired from Castine parties, Mrs. W. V. Pratt subscribing for the rental. Fred D. Jones has loaned an Edison machine and Fred E. Ellis a kitchen cabinet, etc., for the small room in the rear of the reception room which will be used as a kitchenette. The location of the rooms are central and unusually well adapted for the purpose. The committee in charge have evidenced their willingness to do their part in the artistic arrangement of the furnishings, etc. At 8 p. m. Mayor Clement W. Westcott welcomed the men in the service, and gave a brief history of the object of the room, etc. "This room is for you and has been made possible by the women of Belfast who know that wherever their own sons or brothers or friends may be tonight, some such a room is open to them. Some Y. M. C. A. or K. of C. in the training camps or overseas is to them, what we hope this will be to you—a touch of the old home life. We hope that something of the home influence will be felt here, an influence your mothers will approve." Vocal music was rendered by Miss Katherine E. Brier and Charles F. Hammons. The young men present spent a short time in the dance hall and returned to the room where they were served sandwiches, coffee, confectionery, cigars, etc. The hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. F. G. Spinney, Mrs. S. S. L. Shute, Mrs. H. H. Stevens, Mrs. R. P. Coombs, Misses Anne M. Kittidge, Grace A. Lord, Sarah and Marian Frankel. The uniformed men who registered were: Capt. R. A. Webster and Wilfred Small, Rockland; Raymond S. Kelley, Waltham, Mass.; E. J. Henderson, Cambridge, Mass.; Irving L. Joyce, North Haven; Herbert E. Knowlton and Charles E. Getchell, Belfast; Daniel Kirchbaum, Portland and Nock Oriend, Syracuse, N. Y. Monday evening about 50 were entertained including 14 men from the coal steamer Lake Wilson at Searsport, others from the coast patrol and several from Co. F. Mr. Frederick Smith of Portland and Inspector Hubbard of the Y. M. C. A. were also entertained. Mr. Bradbury secured the services of the band and dancing in the corridor was the principal feature of a most delightful at home. The rooms will be open evenings and Sunday with two or more ladies appointed by the hospitality committee in attendance.

Most of the uniform equipment for Co. F. in this city has arrived at the Armory and the past few days have been busy ones for Capt. Dickey and his staff in making the issue of the goods, in order that the men may be well outfitted after a long wait. The new uniforms are very attractive and the men present a fine appearance.

A mass meeting will be held in the Opera House next Saturday evening at 7.30 o'clock in the interests of the United War Work Campaign. There will be interesting speakers and everyone is urged to attend. No contributions asked at this meeting. William Kenney, who has just returned from France, will speak at this meeting. He was in the battle of Verdun and was cited for bravery by the French government. He will tell the story of battle conditions as he found them.

The Women's Alliance of the First Parish, Unitarian church will meet at the home of Mrs. William B. Swan, High street, this, Thursday, afternoon, at 3 o'clock. Religious intelligence will be given by Miss Frances Chase and Rev. Arthur E. Wilson will speak on Government Benefits for Soldiers and their Families. The United States Labor Service committee of this city will hold a meeting at the City Building in the Municipal Court room this, Thursday, at 7.30 p. m., when all the manufacturers are requested to attend. The matter of substituting women help in the department of labor throughout the city in place of many men who are now working on women's jobs will be considered. This is a very important meeting and it is desired that all manufacturers and those employing labor will be in attendance, in order that the matter may be fairly understood and that so far as possible the Board may work in harmony with those most concerned.

Archie Robinson, who recently enlisted in the Navy has received his call and left last Saturday for Boston with orders to report at the Little Building.

The hall will be appropriately decorated for the occasion. Refreshments will be served. Keyes' orchestra will furnish music and Fred G. Spinney will be floor director. The proceeds will be used for the Company's current expenses not met by the Government.

Dr. Elmer Small had a rough experience Tuesday afternoon in making a professional call in Islesboro. The trip to Islesboro was not pleasant on account of the rough water and the size of the motor boat, but on the return home the water was still rougher. Capt. Maurice Decker was unable to make a landing at the Northport wharf or on the beach and Dr. Small was obliged to climb about 20 feet up the side of the wharf. They were unable to get his medicine cases from the stern of the launch and Dr. Small began his evening's work with a bottle of paragon, squills and a few hypodermic tablets. His cases arrived the next morning.

Why not own part of the Company that serves you?

THE success and growth of the Central Maine Power Company are linked closely with the prosperity of the people in its territory and the growth of their industries.

In a broad way, its interests and those of its customers are identical. Because they are, the Company feels that the ownership of its 7% Preferred Stock should, for the best interests of Customers and Company, be divided up among the greatest possible number of its customers.

Because the Company believes in Customer Ownership it has inaugurated, as two adjuncts:

1. Employee Selling—The Company has empowered every one of its employees to serve as stock salesman.

Thus you subscribe for your stock through some one you know—through someone who can give you first hand information about the Company.

2. Divided Payments—For those who wish to combine savings with investment, the Company offers its Customers terms of $10 down and $10 a month.

The stock sells for $107.50 a share—and nets 6%. Why not come to the office—or ask any employee.

Great Mistake to Get the Idea That Wealth Consists Only in Possession of Money.

Riches and money have been commonly but mistakenly synonyms. A mother with a group of children may consider these her jewels, albeit by a bank examiner's rating she would be poorer than Job's turkey. A man with houses and lands may be destitute in human affections eddying round his chair and table, and so in life's paramount values the balancing of the account shows a deficit, though under the dollar sign he may be able to figure a fortune.

Each soul selects the sort of affluence it prefers, observes a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger. You may choose that you will gain the whole world, no matter what becomes of the spirit. Years after it will be a sad thing to see the gross materialist you have become. You may be sated with the pleasures of the senses, but you have missed the best things life has to offer. You may be the chief target for the income tax collector, but the children of the region do not love you.

The man or woman is rich who has acquired sound, seasoned, lasting friendships, true through thick or thin. Any other sort of prosperity is much affected by fair weather or foul. When more money has taken wing out of the window the attaches of the heyday of sunny prosperity abruptly decamp, even as rats flee from a sinking vessel. But the assets of character that link those we love to us enduringly, with the grappling hooks of steel, are proof against corrosion or burglary and will stand any strain that is put on them. Who dares to call me poor if I can keep the unbroken circle, on earth or in Heaven, that love has once established?

What a fallacy to define riches as anything sensual! For all that is of the flesh and of the earth earthy must one day perish like weeds that are slain by the reaper in the hot sun. Only love and truth and beauty and their divine fellowships are immortal, and only these are worth the husbandry of the undying soul.

He who has his fortune in these commodities is entitled to be called rich. Time and change and adversity have no power upon them. They are the only things a man can take with him when he goes. In the process of acquiring them they become part of him inseparably. He who has them "wears his commendation in his face," for it may be read as he passes that his converse is with the higher and finer things, and his daily walk is on the plane where the noblest meet and greet familiarly.

His Civilian Record.

May I suggest to the government that every man be treated according to his civilian merits? These are democratic days. We should not say to discharged men: "Were you an officer?" or "Were you a private?" We should say: "Now you have finished with war, we must deal with you on a civilian basis. What were you before you joined up? What do you think you are best suited for? With you time is precious, just as it is with us. We want to help you to earn a living in the way that you can earn it best." Treat discharged men according to their abilities, and not according to the positions they have held in the services. That is the real solution of the problem—the key to the satisfactory settlement of the difficulty of the discharged. Square pegs in round holes are a nuisance everywhere, as we in the army know only too well. Let us go forward.—London Daily News.

Democracy.

"Well," said the captain of artillery as he stood watching three Yanks playing baseball in the Tuileries gardens in Paris, "I guess that if we came over here to make the world safe for democracy, we have finished the job and can go home."

"Look!"—pointing to the three ball players. "One of those men is an American soldier, one is a Y. M. C. A. secretary, and one is a dandy from an American stevedore regiment. The white soldier's father was killed while fighting to free the slaves, the 'Y' man's father was a slave owner and the dandy's grandfather was a slave. They are playing ball in the grounds that were once the private grounds of an emperor. If that isn't democracy to the nth power, what do you call it?"—From a Red Cross Scrap Book.

New Kind of Candy.

If someone offered you a box of chocolate bonbons which were so delicious that you apologized for the number you ate, and then someone told you that the chief ingredients of their interior was p-o-t-a-t-o-e-s, wouldn't it surprise you? Food Administrator Peden of Texas, who had this experience, was more than surprised. The filling of the bonbons was suggestive of coconut and very delicate to the taste. Potato candy is a logical follow-up to tapioca flour bread, whole wheat steak, mesquite sirup and other interesting food revelations brought about as a result of the war.—Dallas (Texas) News.

He's a Thrifty Fighter, Too.

Proof that the American soldier is not forgetful of his financial obligations toward the "folks at home" is found in the report of the Knights of Columbus' general secretary at an embarkation camp that during two days he sent express company money orders aggregating $12,000 to soldiers' relatives, this sum having been entrusted to him by American fighting men.

NOT IN COLD BLOOD

Soldier Simply Could Not "Tilt" His Prisoner.

But Though There Was an Impediment in His Speech, His Comrades Found There Was Nothing Wrong With His Courage.

He was the "baby" of the company. This sobriquet was not applied in irony. His comrades had dubbed him this because of his youth and an impediment of speech. He couldn't pronounce his C's, K's and S's, especially when those consonants were the first letter of the word. And consequently his conversation had the sound of a three-year-old. But those of his mates who had poked fun at him one day learned that though his speech and manner might be childish, there was stern stuff beneath.

During an allied attack the platoon of which the "baby" was a member was held up in an old trench by Boche machine gun fire and snipers. The "baby" discovered an enemy sniper in a shell hole and reported him to his lieutenant.

"Go out and get him," ordered the lieutenant.

Obeying orders, over the top the "baby" crawled, and creeping up behind the Hun, forced him to surrender. Unable to bring him back, he took away all his ammunition and crawled back to his own lines again.

"What that I do with him?" the "baby" asked the lieutenant.

"Better kill him, he's probably got hand grenades and a gun hidden about him and we're in too ticklish a position to be bothered with prisoners," answered the harried officer.

Out again went the "baby," all primed for the execution. The Boche saw him coming, dropped to his knees, clasped his hands in prayerful entreaty and begged for mercy—a habit of the Boche after they have exhausted all their ammunition killing and wounding all the Americans they can.

Twice the "baby" raised his bayonet to run the Hun through. And twice the renewed entreaties of the terrified German sniper made him hesitate. Finally, with a gesture of despair, he ordered the Boche to crawl ahead of him to the American line.

Reaching it, the "baby" put his prisoner in a dugout. Then he went in search of his lieutenant and reported:

"Lieutenant, I can't tilt that d—Boche, sir. Please get someone else to tilt him."

The officer couldn't help laughing, and sent the "baby" back to his post. An hour later the "baby" was wounded by another sniper and ordered to the dressing station in the rear.

"He's all broken up, sir, because he couldn't carry out the lieutenant's orders," said his comrade to the American Red Cross worker in the dressing station.—From a Red Cross Scrap Book.

Liked the War.

They told me down South about a negro who had drifted along through life till then with nobody bothering much about him. The draft took him, rather frightened and protesting, and he found himself in the army. After the first daze of it wore off, he discovered that he was being taken an interest in for the first time in his life. They took him over to one of the community service colored clubs in his off time. There was a piano there, there were pool tables and games, not to speak of a temperance bar. There was going to be a colored dance that night, and he heard of a dinner for the Daughters of Zion on Saturday. He settled down in his chair, for the first time in his stray-dog life a recognized member of the community, with a recognized place in the world. Then he leaned over to the comrade who had brought him.

"Fo' de Lord's sake, man," he demanded, "why didn't nobody start dis war befo'?"—Good Housekeeping.

Fed the Multitude.

Mess sergeants are just the same whether they're in Kansas City, Mo., or Chateau Thierry, France—always suspicious that the whole army is trying to edge on their company mess.

The beans ran low—which will indicate the gravity of the situation—in a company that was having its first hot meal out of the lines.

"Three hundred and seventeen men I've fed," finally exploded the mess sergeant. "Three hundred and seventeen! And when we went into line we were only two hundred and fifty strong. You'd think a company would lose when it's fighting, but it doesn't. It gains."

Wheat Crop in Scotland.

The president of the Scottish board of agriculture recently stated that the wheat crop in Scotland this year had been increased by 16,000 acres, the oat crop by 196,000 acres and the potato crop by 23,000 acres. There was some decrease in the barley crop, but the net increase on the whole of these crops was 227,000 acres, compared with 1917.

Airman's Discovery.

Writing home from France an American airman says of a recent flight: "I went up for altitude and made the remarkable discovery, which I am thinking of publishing at once—namely, that the world is not round, but saucer-shaped, slightly depressed in the middle."

haler somewhere around the house, get it out and start it at once to forever rid yourself of catarrh.

A. A. Howes & Co. or any other good druggist will sell you a bottle of Hyomei (liquid), start to breathe it and notice how quickly it clears out the air passages and makes the entire head feel fine. Hyomei used regularly will end catarrh, coughs, colds, bronchitis or asthma. A complete outfit, including a hard rubber pocket inhaler and bottle of Hyomei, costs but little. No stomach dosing; just breathe it. It kills the germs, soothes and heals the inflamed membrane.

WHAT THE HUNS DO WHILE THEY ASK FOR PEACE

Though the German government has been asking the allies for peace, the German military command continues its policy of frightfulness on land and sea. This photograph shows all that is left of one of the hospitals of the St. John's Ambulance association after a deliberate air raid on it by the Huns.

The American Soldiers.

A party of men representing 13 of the leading magazines and newspapers of the United States has just returned from a two months' tour of France, England and Belgium. Mr. Oulahan of the New York Times has this to say about our American soldiers:

"What pleased us most was the splendid impressions created in the British Isles and France by the American troops. The praise we hear of their character, bearing, personal conduct and fighting ability was too general and too emphatic to permit a suspicion that it was given for the sake of politeness. It became very evident to us that a much better understanding of America and Americans had come to prevail in the countries of our associates in the war. Many of those with whom we talked—civilians and military officers and women also—confessed that they were agreeably disappointed in the Americans they had met and seen since we entered the great conflict. In some way the impression had prevailed in England that our troops would go to Europe in a spirit of braggadocio. The expectation existed that our officers and men would assume a patronizing attitude, as much as to say, 'Well, you were licked until we came over to show you how to win.' Instead of that spirit the people of the allied countries found that our officers and men were modest, unassuming, serious, anxious to learn, and had no desire to assert any claim to superiority."

Americans Keen to Learn.
"British officers told us of the keenness of our men to learn the game of war, of their quickness to understand, of their modesty, and the high personal and soldierly character they displayed. General Mangin was particularly generous when our party visited him at his field headquarters. He spoke with pride of the fact that two American divisions had been under his command in the bitter engagements near Soissons. He said they were splendid fighters with marked initiative, and attacked with the spirit of men, who were fighting for liberty. We heard from many sources that British and French officers had expressed to their friends intense admiration for our troops and had come to see Americans in a new and pleasing light."

A Deep Hole.

An oil well being driven in West Virginia has been drilled to a depth of 7363 feet, and is now the deepest in the world. The depth of this well is more than one and one-half miles, exceeds the height of Mt. Mitchell (6711 feet), the highest mountain in the Eastern United States. Until now the deepest oil well boring has been one of 7349 feet in Silesia.

The Tank Situation.

Frequent references appear in dispatches from the front, especially those which have been subjected to the tender ministrations of the Committee on Public Information, to the heroic and effective work of "the American Tanks." And these references are just as misleading as the references of a few months ago to the "American aeroplanes" on the Western front. The tanks referred to are American to the extent that they are manned by American soldiers and under the command of American generals. But the studied implication that they are American built tanks is false, for the tank programme has collapsed as completely as did the aeroplane programme.

Months ago there was established an American assembling plant for tanks in France, and contracts were let to English, French and Americans for approximately 500 tanks each. When, a short time ago, the 1,000 tanks contracted for in France and Great Britain had been delivered and assembled, the parts of not one complete American tank had arrived.

The War Department programme called for the construction of 4,400 tanks in this country. On September 1, just eight tanks had been completed. There was prospect, it was officially stated to members of the Senate Military Committee, that a total of forty tanks would be delivered during the month of September.

Months ago a tank training camp was established at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. On September 1, not one tank had been delivered at the camp, and the men who had enlisted for and been assigned to tank service were being trained with blue-prints, paper representations of the machines they were supposed to master. Whether or not the deficiency at Gettysburg has been remedied since by the delivery of at least one tank, in order that the men may have the opportunity to study the form and substance, as well as the paper designs, the Military Committee is not informed. To learn the reasons for the collapse of the tank program it will probably be necessary to ask Secretary Baker—although members of Congress have asked him, and he has replied that that is "military information not proper to disclose."

But if Mr. Baker ever is called on to explain by anyone with sufficient authority to compel an answer, he will have as much to explain regarding the failure of the tank program as he has in connection with the collapse of the aeroplane plans.—North American Review's War Weekly.

FINISH THE JOB RIGHT.

"Finish the job right!" That was the reply of the American fighting men to the Americans back home and to the whole world in response to Teutonic peace efforts. They have taken the peace calls as a signal for the Allies to continue to fight harder than ever.

Lately we have heard much of what the housewife did in the way of making it possible to feed the Allies last year. Before the war the United States had almost ceased to be a food exporting nation. In the past year, the diligent conservation of food by the American housewife, however, made it possible for America to send more than eleven million tons of food to Europe.

This is a splendid victory for the housewife. But it should in no way serve to relax her efforts in conserving food in the coming year. It should rather be as the peace offer is to our boys, a spur to greater determination to win the goal.

During the coming year we must send seventeen and one-half million tons of food across the Atlantic. To do this calls for constant conservation of the staples,—wheat, meat, sugar, and fats—and unceasing vigilance to see that no food whatever is wasted.

But—"Finish the job right!"

THE COLLECTION of telephone bills that remain unpaid after the reasonable specified time is—

WASTEFUL—Because it consumes in work that should be unnecessary, time, effort and expense that might be better devoted to the enormous amount of necessary work that war-time conditions demand.

EXTRAVAGANT—Because it lavishes upon work that should be unnecessary, the time, the effort, the expense, that might otherwise be concentrated on the important business of keeping the nation's war-time telephone service up to peace-time standards.

TELEPHONE SUBSCRIBERS can make a large part of this collection work unnecessary, just by paying their telephone bills within a reasonable time.

IN SIBERIAN EQUIPMENT

The clothing which is seen in this photograph is to be worn in addition to the regular heavy winter overseas equipment as furnished to all troops of the American expeditionary forces in Siberia. The cap is of muskrat fur, as are the mittens. The parka is made of heavy moleskin cloth. Very light and loose, it makes a most comfortable garment to march or exercise in. The foot covering consists of Canadian shoe pacs, made of black cowhide, chrome tanned and specially treated to provide waterproof qualities. Under the shoe pacs will be worn two pairs of lumberman's socks, with one pair of heavy wool army socks beneath them. The underclothing worn is especially made for use in Siberia and consists of very heavy mittened woolen garments.

Little Irony of War.

Great consternation was caused in Vienna recently by the announcement that the son of Karl Hermann Wolf, deputy of the Austrian reichsrath, is a soldier in the British army. Nothing could be more ironic, for the elder Wolf has been a leader in propagating hatred of England and is one of the most vigorous of the Pan-Germanists.

The boy's mother, Frau Wolf, was given a divorce from his father in 1904 because of the latter's extreme brutality. To escape his persecutions she went to Switzerland and finally to England, where she sent her son to the English schools. Now Wolf's own flesh and blood is fighting on the British side against his father's compatriots.

Wolf has been one of the most striking figures in the Austrian reichsrath. He is the creator and leader of the "Hang all Czechs" movement, which caused so many stormy scenes in the Austrian parliament.

Write It "Francoamerican."

In writing of operations in which French and American troops have cooperated, a Paris journalist at the front uses the term "Francoamerican." The deletion of the hyphen he explains by declaring there has been transference of blood and effusion of hearts between Pollu and Yankee on the field of honor. This compliment, characteristically French in its graciousness, shows that the spirit of France and that of America are gradually blending into a new spirit of international union that binds the two republics together more closely than ever.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.
